Dear Stan:-

Yours of 30 May just arrived, with an outline of five or six projects for my consideration and attention during my two weeks on board with you. Looks good. I'll give it my best shot, trying to hit all of them--with at least a glancing blow. Then, what do you want me to do on the second day?

Seriously, all of your projects are clearly of some importance, and I will be fully challenged to make a few useful contributions. I am starting to wonder whether you will want to phone Kin McKee to pre-empt my scheduled two weeks with him, so that I could give you a full four weeks. But, for a lot of reasons, it would probably be best to leave it as is, and I'll do whatever can be done within two busy weeks.

See you on 12 June!

Warmest personal regards,

Vincent Davis
